FAVORS NEW TAX MEASURE

House Committee Recommends It for Passage.

TO ASSIST THE COMMISSION

Bill Provides That All Property Shall Be Listed at Full Value by the Assessor and Then Assessed at Forty Per Cent of Its Value—Senator Dunn Declares Canfield's Bill is Ineffective.

St. Paul, Feb. 27.—The house committee on taxes and tax laws recommended for passage the bill which provides that all property shall be listed at full value by the assessor and then assessed at 50 per cent of this value, but amended it so as to make it 40 instead of 50 per cent.

Some of the members had a hard time to understand the purpose of the bill and some said it would discriminate against the farmers because at present farm lands were assessed less in proportion to their actual value than some other property.

But Chairman Dalzell, Representative Stuart and others explained that the tax commission has decided that next year they will enforce the old law which says that property shall be assessed at full value. This law has never been enforced, but the tax commission's report shows that on the average property is assessed at about 43 per cent of its actual value.

But many salaries, tax levies and limitations of expenditures are based upon the total assessed valuation of the county or district, and if property were assessed at full value many salaries would be doubled and many other things disarranged, so the tax commission asked the passage of this bill thinking that this would be easier than to have the legislature revise all the laws fixing salaries and other matters based on assessed valuation.

Opposes Canfield's Bill.

Senator W. W. Dunn of St. Paul, who confessed before the temperance committee of the senate that he is in the employ of a large brewing firm, entered vigorous protest against the Canfield bill forbidding the ownership of saloons by brewing companies.

Senator Dunn protested that other measures should be pursued and that the number of saloons in each town should be strictly limited. He is in favor of the Alderman bill which limits them to one for every 500 population. He said that at present there is one saloon for every 280 of the population of the whole state. He protested that by subterfuge the brewing companies would be able to avoid the provisions of the Canfield bill, but that the limiting of the number of saloons would enable each saloonkeeper to make enough money to rid himself from bondage to the breweries which now often advance the money for license, stock and fixtures.

He said that the company with which he is connected had at least $200,000 loaned to saloonkeepers now, mostly without interest. He also characterized the saloonkeepers of the present as serfs of the corporations who loaned them money to carry on their business.

The temperance fight was carried to the floor of the senate when the committee of the whole, several amendments were proposed to the Alderman bill. Several senators want the bill limiting the number of saloons to apply to present conditions. Under the bill the present number of saloons will continue until the population increases largely, but there will be no reduction at present.

Favors Zelch's Automobile Bill.

The house by a small majority voted in favor of the Zelch automobile bill, which provides that the licenses shall be secured from the secretary of state and makes other regulations. By this vote they expressed themselves against the idea contained in the Gates bill, which is the bill drawn by the automobile clubs and which provides a tax of $1 per horsepower.

A bill for a system of inspection of the smaller slaughter houses throughout the state was introduced in the house by John Rustad of Whalen. It provides a county inspector of slaughter houses and meats for each county in the state with assistants where such are necessary. They must be licensed veterinarians and are to be under the supervision of the state live stock and sanitary board.

They are to have power of inspection over all plants and shops except the plants where the federal government has an inspector.

That no teacher in Minneapolis would have a chance for promotion unless satisfactory to the American Book company was the opinion of Clifford W. Thompson of Minneapolis, a member of the school board, who testified before the Adams committee which is investigating the school book question.

He said that teachers were intimidated. The teachers make recommendations as to what books to buy, but when Superintendent C. M. Jordan, he said, wants a favorable report on a book he sends copies not to all the teachers, but to those whom he knows will favor the book.

A state home for the aged is the idea presented in a bill by C. J. Wright of Vergas Falls.

HORSEWHIPS BILLY SUNDAY

Religious Fanatic Attacks the Noted Evangelist.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 27.—Rev. W. A. (Billy) Sunday, a former baseball player who is now an evangelist, was horsewhipped by a religious fanatic at the Sunday tabernacle, where, in the presence of 8,000 persons, he was conducting the opening meeting of a religious revival meeting.

The evangelist had just made his opening remarks, and was leaning against the pulpit on an elevated platform while a hymn was being sung, when a powerful man, who said his name was Sherman Potts, sprang forward with a buggy whip and struck Mr. Sunday several terrific blows.

Sunday leaped from the platform and dashed at his assailant, whom he knocked down in the center aisle. The audience was on the verge of a panic, with women weeping and children screaming while Potts and Sunday rolled and tumbled in the aisle.

The choir leader asked choir and audience to sing and in a few moments the entire audience was calmed, few leaving their seats. Several men seized Potts and they held him until policemen came and took him to jail. Mr. Sunday said he suffered several painful bruises from the buggy whip. The prisoner made the attack, he said, in defense of the virtue of women which he declared had been criticised by the evangelist.

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES

Adopted by the North American Conservation Conference.

TRANSMITTED TO CONGRESS

President Roosevelt in His Letter of Transmittal Declares That the Conference Will Unquestionably Result in Mutual Benefits—Establishment of a Permanent Conservation Commission in Canada, Mexico and the United States Recommended.

Washington, Feb. 27.—The "declaration of principles" adopted by the North American conservation conference which has just concluded its work here in which certain recommendations are made for the conservation of the natural resources of the United States, Canada and Mexico, has been transmitted by President Roosevelt to congress.

In his letter of transmittal the president declares that the conference "will unquestionably, as the declaration recites, result in mutual benefits, and tend to draw still closer the bonds of existing good will, confidence and respect." The declaration points out that natural resources are not confined by the boundary lines that separate nations. "We agree that no nation acting alone can adequately conserve them and we recommend the adoption of concurrent measures for conserving material foundations of the welfare of all the nations concerned, and for ascertaining their location and extent."

After pointing out that the conference not only performed with marked efficiency and entire unanimity the important duties which devolved upon it, the president declares that "it has suggested a still wider field of useful action." The president then refers to the suggestion made by the conference on conservation and says that, acting upon this suggestion, he has addressed such an invitation to the nations of the world "in the confident belief that such a meeting will foster the interests of every nation, will insure those of none, and will confirm and strengthen in us all the belief that the good of each is likewise the common good of all."

The establishment of a permanent conservation commission in each of the three countries perhaps is one of the most important recommendations of the conference.

The report declares that a system of intercommunication should be inaugurated between the conservation commissions, whereby, at stated intervals, all discoveries, inventions, processes, inventories of natural resources, information of a new and specifically important character, seeds and seedlings, of new or improved varieties, and other productions which are of value in conserving or improving any natural resource shall be transmitted by each commission to all of the others, to the end that they may be utilized as widely as possible.

The report deals with every phase of conservation.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE

Unsettlement Caused by Price Reductions a Feature.

New York, Feb. 27.—Bradstreet's review of trade says while there has been some expansion in house jobbing trade in dry goods, millinery and kindred lines and business in agricultural implements, seeds and fertilizers has been large, the unsettlement caused by price reduction in the iron, steel and other metal markets, the weakness in securities and the nearer approach of tariff revision have all made for a degree of uncertainty not so plainly visible for a long time past. Weather conditions, too, have played a part in arresting retail trade, country roads are in bad shape, farmers' deliveries are affected despite attractive prices for grain, and there has been, in fact, an apparent slowing down in the current of trade, which, however temporary it may be, has tended to make comparisons with a year ago at this time largely unfavorable, as they still are less satisfactory than was expected some time ago.

Goes to Prison for Life.

Hutchinson, Kan., Feb. 27.—Orville Folland, aged nineteen, pleaded guilty to murder in the first degree for slaying Jesse Haymaker, his friend, the express clerk here, Wednesday morning. He was immediately sentenced to life imprisonment and was taken to the Lansing penitentiary.

Jeffries on the Way to New York.

Los Angeles, Feb. 27.—James J. Jeffries has left for New York. He refused to make a positive statement regarding a fight with Jack Johnson.

BIG FLEET DISINTEGRATING

Powerful Naval Force at Hampton Roads Being Divided.

Fort Monroe, Va., Feb. 27.—The disintegration of the powerful naval force which has been at anchor in Hampton Roads since Monday last has begun. The Minnesota and Virginia of the fleet which circled the globe slipped silently out of their squadron lines and steamed away to the Norfolk navyyard to undergo docking and to receive preparations for the summer maneuvers. The big white ships when they leave the navyyard again will be dressed in the sombre hues of service gray.

The three scout cruisers, Chester, Birmingham and Salem, sailed just before the setting of the sun. They passed out of the Virginia Capes and headed for Newport, R. I. After coaling there the three scouts will be sent on a practice run, which is expected to demonstrate the relative efficiency of the three different types of engines with which these fleet little cruisers are fitted.

The battleships New Jersey and Rhode Island are ordered away today, the former going to Boston and the latter to New York. Conscious of the fact that they will be the first of the homecoming fleet to enter New York harbor, the men and officers of the Rhode Island are preparing to celebrate accordingly. The ship after finishing coaling, received a new coat of paint and will steam into the metropolis on Monday looking as spick and span as though she had just left a liveryyard.

Other ships are to follow the New Jersey and Rhode Island very shortly.

FOLLOWS EXTENDED DEBATE

Passage of Agricultural Appropriation Bill in the Senate.

Washington, Feb. 27.—The passage of the agricultural appropriation bill by the senate followed an extended debate on the forestry service, which occupied the entire session. As passed the measure appropriates $13,075,716, which is an increase of $191,890 over the bill as passed by the house.

Baptie Regains His Title.

Minneapolis, Feb. 27.—Norval Baptie of North Dakota regained his title as world's skating champion, which he lost through accident two weeks ago. Baptie defeated John Nilsson of Minneapolis in two straight events.

Ends Life With Gas.

Janesville, Wis., Feb. 27.—James H. Sully, said to live in Everett, Mass., committed suicide with gas in a hotel, tearing out the gas fixture in his room and nearly asphyxiating other guests.

SWINDLED BY SPORT FAKERS

Many Northwestern Men Among the Victims.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Feb. 27.—Post-office Inspector Swenson, who has returned from Little Rock, Ark., has information collected while there of the monumental swindle perpetrated by an organization, the head of which he believes is under arrest in that city in the person of J. C. Maybray.

The postoffice department believes the operations of the organization brought them considerably more than $500,000. More than 100 persons in various parts of the country were fleeced out of amounts ranging from $5,000 to $37,000.

Among the documents secured by Inspector Swenson in his search of Maybray's effects was a diary containing much information concerning the operations of the organization. A complete record was kept with each man dealt with. More than 100 records were found and those showed that foot races, wrestling matches and horse races were the principal methods used for the fleecing of victims. Among these records were the following:

MISSING MAN'S HEAD FOUND

Mystery Surrounding His Disappearance Partly Cleared Up.

Pendleton, Ore., Feb. 27.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of V. H. Hedberg of Cumberland, Wis., at Umatilla on Aug. 5 of last year, was partly cleared up by the discovery of the missing man's head two miles north of Hermiston.

Hedberg was on his way from Washington to Ashland, Ore. He stepped from the train the night of Aug. 5 to get lunch and then disappeared. It is believed Hedberg was killed by a tramp.

IN HONOR OF ELIHU ROOT

Peace Society of New York Gives a Banquet.

New York, Feb. 27.—The Peace Society of New York brought together around the banquet table at the Hotel Astor a notable gathering of men prominent in national, state and city affairs. The dinner was in honor of Senator Elihu Root of New York, and Joseph H. Choate was toastmaster. President Elect William H. Taft, Governor Charles E. Hughes, James Bryce, the British ambassador; Baron Kogoro Takahira, ambassador from Japan, and Joaquin Nabuco, Brazilian ambassador, were the speakers. Among the 800 guests were many prominent citizens of New York, representative of all the arts, professions and industries.

The programme card contained miniature portraits of the speakers and President Roosevelt and the emperor of Japan on India paper, beneath which was ascribed a brief expression by the person portrayed on the subject of peace.

With the end of the menu the diners gathered around a silk bedecked pulpit at the side of the banquet hall. Joseph H. Choate, the chairman appeared. Mr. Choate was in his best humor and his speech was frequently broken by cheers.

To tell all the good things Mr. Root had done, he said, would keep the diners a week. Mr. Root, he continued, had done more for the peace of the world than any man in our country. Mr. Root was then introduced. There was a demonstration when he made his way to the speaking pulpit. Mr. Root dwelt upon the causes that led to war and said:

"I agree with Mr. Choate that there is no inconsistency between the work of a secretary of war and the work of a secretary of peace, because so long as selfishness and greed and a willingness to do injustice and the brutality to do injustice continue in this world, we must have the policeman, and the international policeman whose presence makes the use of his club unnecessary is the army and the navy. "Peace can never be except as it is founded upon justice, and it rests with us to see to it that the idea of justice prevails."

Fire at Texarkana.

Texarkana, Ark., Feb. 27.—The plant of the Arkansas Cotton Oil company burned with a loss estimated at $250,000.

TRANSMITTED TO CONGRESS

President Roosevelt in His Letter of Transmittal Declares That the Conference Will Unquestionably Result in Mutual Benefits—Establishment of a Permanent Conservation Commission in Canada, Mexico and the United States Recommended.

Washington, Feb. 27.—The "declaration of principles" adopted by the North American conservation conference which has just concluded its work here in which certain recommendations are made for the conservation of the natural resources of the United States, Canada and Mexico, has been transmitted by President Roosevelt to congress.

In his letter of transmittal the president declares that the conference "will unquestionably, as the declaration recites, result in mutual benefits, and tend to draw still closer the bonds of existing good will, confidence and respect." The declaration points out that natural resources are not confined by the boundary lines that separate nations. ### TAFT'S HASTY ADMIRER.

Calls President Elect Colonel and Leaves His Father's Best Wishes.

As the Taft train pulled out of Birmingham, Ala., the other night William Howard Taft, the president elect dropped down into a Pullman seat sighed and stretched himself for a real rest, says a Cincinnati dispatch. His labors for the day were over. It was the first time since the train left New Orleans at 9:20 o'clock in the morning that his car had been free of local committeemen, the first time he had really had breathing space. His eyes closed, and he began to nod.

Most of the others in the car were already snoozing, their heads tilted against the backs of the seats. Everything was as peaceful as a graveyard.

Suddenly from the very center of the car came a voice: "How do you do, colonel? Glad to see you."

Mr. Taft opened his eyes with a start; so did everybody else in the car.
The old familiar voice of the hand-shaker was there, but who the deuce was "colonel?"

The man's collar was unbuttoned, his shoes were untied, he was minus a necktie and was sweating like an ice pickle in July. He was standing beside Mr. Taft's seat.

"Why, I knew you, colonel," he went on, "the moment I set eyes on you.
You look just like your pictures."

Mr. Taft stopped rubbing his eyes and smiled, s-m-i-l-e-d.

"Well, I have had a good many names," said he, "but this is the first time anybody has called me colonel.
They call me judge sometimes."

"Well, now, that's so," said the caller;
"they do call you judge, but you certainly look like your pictures."

Before Mr. Taft could say anything further the man rattled along, apparently alarmed at the prospect of the train starting before he finished.

"My father—eighty-six years old—lives just uphither there. I'd gone to bed. Father, reading evening paper, saw you was coming through on the 9:30 and hollered 't' me. 'John, John, git up quick,' he hollered, 'and ge shake hands with the first Republican president I ever voted for.' I gets up, jumps into clothes—scuse 'pearance—
and rushes down here just in time 't' catch train at water tank. Glad 't' see you—very glad—great privilege—very happy."

"Give your father my"—interrupted
Mr. Taft, but the caller went on:

"Course I will—father 'll be tickled—wish he could 'a' seen you himself—could have come all right if he'd only knowed th' train was goin' to stop s'long. I got three children, three—two boys an' a girl—sorry they're not here too."

"Well, tell your father"—said Mr.
Taft again, and the train started.

"Certainly"—the man called back as he sprinted toward the door.

"Tell him I shook hands and everything you said!"

"Thanks, thanks, thanks."

DR. BULL'S HUMANITY.

Famous Surgeon's Kindness to a Poor
Jewish Family.

The humanity of Dr. William T. Bull of New York, the famous surgeon who recently died at Savannah, Ga., is illustrated by an incident in his career which came to light through another physician.

Late at night a young doctor from the east side of New York city went to Dr. Bull's home and told him that his skill was needed to save the life of a young Jewish girl afflicted with appendicitis.

Dr. Bull went to the home of the girl. It was in a tenement house.
She lay on the floor on a bundle of rags. The family had not tasted food in two days.

Taking off his coat and rolling up his sleeves, Dr. Bull turned an icebox into an operating table, operated on the girl, stayed in the house till the patient was out of immediate danger and saw that food was brought for the family.

The father of the girl in his great gratitude for the surgeon's kindness took from his pocket a quarter, all the money he had in the world, and proffered it to the great physician, and Dr. Bull, realizing the spirit in which the money had been offered and too tender to refuse it, accepted the quarter and placed it in his pocket.

"I hadn't the heart to refuse it," he said afterward.

A liar ends by making truth appear like falsehood.—Shenstone.

Rat Tails For Embroidery.

Nature's pleasant forms must be exhausted when gown makers begin to talk about rat tail embroidery. Yet such is the fad for the hour. Rat tails are having their day in soft wool gowns. They are embroidered in silk and twisted and turned in a way calculated to make the timid squirm.
Then rat tails figure among Parisian novelties as one of the trimmings for hats that divide popularity with chickweed and pullets' wings. For the hat the tails are near enough to life to give the creeps. "Well," gasped one good, healthy, normal minded woman when she saw such a piece of headgear, "it makes me want to get out the trap and the cheese."

To the Point.

Elderly Aunt—I suppose you wondered, dear little Hans, why I left you so abruptly in the lane. I saw a man, and, oh, how I ran! Hans—Did you get him?—Ellegende Blatter.

A man that is young in years may

TAFT'S HASTY ADMIRER.

Calls President Elect Colonel and Leaves His Father's Best Wishes.

As the Taft train pulled out of Birmingham, Ala., the other night William Howard Taft, the president elect dropped down into a Pullman seat sighed and stretched himself for a real rest, says a Cincinnati dispatch. His labors for the day were over. It was the first time since the train left New Orleans at 9:20 o'clock in the morning that his car had been free of local committeemen, the first time he had really had breathing space. His eyes closed, and he began to nod.

Most of the others in the car were already snoozing, their heads tilted against the backs of the seats. Everything was as peaceful as a graveyard.

Suddenly from the very center of the car came a voice: "How do you do, colonel? Glad to see you."

Mr. Taft opened his eyes with a start; so did everybody else in the car. The old familiar voice of the hand-shaker was there, but who the deuce was "colonel?"

The man's collar was unbuttoned, his shoes were untied, he was minus a necktie and was sweating like an ice pitcher in July. He was standing beside Mr. Taft's seat.

"Why, I knew you, colonel," he went on, "the moment I set eyes on you. You look just like your pictures."

Mr. Taft stopped rubbing his eyes and smiled, s-m-i-l-e-d.

"Well, I have had a good many names," said he, "but this is the first time anybody has called me colonel. They call me judge sometimes."

"Well, now, that's so," said the caller; "they do call you judge, but you certainly look like your pictures."

Before Mr. Taft could say anything further the man rattled along, apparently alarmed at the prospect of the train starting before he finished.

"My father—eighty-six years old—lives just uphill there. I'd gone to bed. Father, reading evening paper, saw you was coming through on the 9:30 and hollered 't' me. 'John, John, git up quick,' he hollered, 'and go shake hands with the first Republican president I ever voted for.' I gets up, jumps into clothes—scuse 'pearance—and rushes down here just in time 't' catch train at water tank. Glad 't' see you—very glad—great privilege—very happy."

"Give your father my"—interrupted Mr. Taft, but the caller went on: "Course I will—father 'll be tickled—wish he could 'a' seen you himself—could have come all right if he'd only knowed 't' train was goin' to stop s'long. I got three children, three—two boys an' a girl—sorry they're not here too."

"Well, tell your father"—said Mr. Taft again, and the train started.

"Certainly"—the man called back as he sprinted toward the door.

"Tell him I shook hands and everything you said"—

"Thanks, thanks, thanks."

DR. BULL'S HUMANITY.

Famous Surgeon's Kindness to a Poor Jewish Family.

The humanity of Dr. William T. Bull of New York, the famous surgeon who recently died at Savannah, Ga., is illustrated by an incident in his career which came to light through another physician.

Late at night a young doctor from the east side of New York city went to Dr. Bull's home and told him that his skill was needed to save the life of a young Jewish girl afflicted with appendicitis.

Dr. Bull went to the home of the girl. It was in a tenement house. She lay on the floor on a bundle of rags. The family had not tasted food in two days.

Taking off his coat and rolling up his sleeves, Dr. Bull turned an icebox into an operating table, operated on the girl, stayed in the house till the patient was out of immediate danger and saw that food was brought for the family.

The father of the girl in his great gratitude for the surgeon's kindness took from his pocket a quarter, all the money he had in the world, and proffered it to the great physician, and Dr. Bull, realizing the spirit in which the money had been offered and too tender to refuse it, accepted the quarter and placed it in his pocket.

"I hadn't the heart to refuse it," he said afterward.

Rat Tails For Embroidery.

Nature's pleasant forms must be exhausted when gown makers begin to talk about rat tail embroidery. Yet such is the fad for the hour. Rat tails are having their day in soft wool gowns. They are embroidered in silk and twisted and turned in a way calculated to make the timid squirm. Then rat tails figure among Parisian novelties as one of the trimmings for hats that divide popularity with chickweed and pullets' wings. For the hat the tails are near enough to life to give the creeps. "Well," gasped one good, healthy, normal minded woman when she saw such a piece of head-gear, "it makes me want to get out the trap and the cheese."

ARRESTED AFTER FOUR YEARS

Wm. Bailey Arrested at Cloquet
Charged with Murder of
Annie Kintop

NEAR LITTLE FALLS IN 1905

The Prisoner Was Held to the Grand Jury in Little Falls
this Forenoon

Wm. Bailey of Cloquet, was held to the grand jury of Morrison county today on a charge of murdering Annie Kintop near Darling, Morrison county, according to a telephonic message received by the Dispatch here this afternoon. Annie Kintop was assaulted and murdered on April 10, 1905 and her body was not found until April 16th. The crime caused great excitement, not only in Morrison county but in Crow Wing and a posse of citizens from here scoured the country east of Brainerd in search of a negro suspected of the crime, but without success. A telegram from Cloquet to the Duluth News Tribune contains the following story of the arrest of Bailey, who was taken through this city last night by the Morrison county officer:

"William Bailey, an employee of the Cloquet Electric company, was arrested this morning by Chief of Police McSweeney on the charge of having murdered Miss Annie Kintop at Little Falls, Minn., four years ago. Sheriff Armstrong, of Morrison county, arrived this afternoon from Little Falls and took the man into custody. Bailey was sleeping in his room at the West hotel when arrested and when he was confronted with the crime he collapsed and was unable to speak. After composing himself he denied all knowledge of the crime but the evidence which led to his arrest is said to be almost conclusive.

"Bailey has been in the employ of the local electric company for a little over a year. He has been faithful in his work as far as can be learned. If he is the man wanted his real name is probably concealed by him and as he is unknown in Little Falls, little importance attaches to any alias he may have assumed. He is a very large man and as a good description of the murderer which was obtained agrees consistently with Bailey's appearance. The latter has been shadowed for the last few weeks. This was accomplished by a detective applying for work with the same company and working into Bailey's confidence. Enough was learned to warrant the man's arrest and he was taken to Little Falls this forenoon.

Fine Musical Program

Last evening, at the residence of Miss Theresa L. Schulz, 315 N. E. 4th ave., an excellent musicale was rendered by a number of Miss Schulz' students. It was the second recital given in connection with her school of music, and the fine program of piano solos and duets rendered, was a credit Miss Schulz' system of teaching and ability and a compliment to her young instrumentalists. The audience comprised the parents and friends of the performers, including Mrs. W. A. M. Johrstone and a large group of her advanced musical students, to which Miss Schulz belongs.

The program rendered last evening covered a wide range of music and was complimentary to Miss Schulz as proving her to be a fine reader of the musical temperament of each student and also preparing a varied program that was listenable to a mixed audience and richly musical. The program was arranged with the taste of an artist, opening with pastores with their rustic style and simple melodies, rich in synophones portraying rural life; passing on to most exquisitely rendered slumber songs and scores delicately delineating childhood's golden hours with its "Little Boy Blue," "Gathering Golden Rod" and "First Violets," as it wandered over "Hill and Dale" amid the liquid music of "Robin and Swallow" thence to hunting scenes and the weird march of the "Gnomms Patrol" still onward toward the deep, blue sea listening to its waves singing a lazy lullaby and again to the voice of the storm; leading to where Love's Longing and Maiden's Prayers were interpreted in Serenade; from that to the undecipherable chamber music of Sonata, and spending itself in a grand finale of the Triumphant March by Rathbun, and Verdi's talentedly interpreted, "Souvenir de Trovatori." After the program light refreshments were served and an informal conversation took place.

The students who participated in last night's program comprised about two-thirds of Miss Schulz's class and were the following:

Burton Orne, Wallace Olson, Donald Davis, Percy Carbine, Mary Nelson, Gladys Nitterauer, Bessie Bredenberg, Minnie Schulz, Maud Williams, Edna Orne, Marion Davis, Beatrice Noble, Mildred Skauge, Ruth Simmons, Mamie Brockway and Helen Strachan. **

The Secret of Long Life

A French scientist has discovered one secret of long life. His method deals with the blood. But long ago millions of Americans had proved Electric Bitters prolongs life and makes it worth living. It purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood, rebuilds wasted nerve cells, imparts life and tone to the entire system. Its a godsend to weak, sick and debilitated people. "Kidney trouble had blighted my life for months," writes W. M. Sherman, of Cushing, Me., "but Electric Bitters cured me entirely." Only 50c at H. P. Dunn. tts-w

Cats Disguised as Snakes.

"Do you know why a cat hisses when in rage or danger?" said a nature student. "Well, sir, she hisses as a flying criminal puts on blue goggles and a false beard. With that hiss she tries instinctively to disguise herself as a snake."

"Did you ever notice the markings on a cat's tail? They are transverse, like a snake's markings. The primitive cat in the wild state lived in rather tall grass. When danger approached he hissed and at the same time put up his tail and waved it slowly. The oncomer heard that serpentine hiss. He saw the tail, and only the tail, which waved in an ominous, serpentine manner. He said 'snake in the grass' and withdrew."

"The cat of today, hissing horribly and waving to and fro his erected tail, follows ancestral precedent. It helps him not at all; nevertheless he always does it, thinking it the right thing. Is not man sometimes like the cat in this respect?"

A laugh costs too much if it is bought at the expense of propriety.—Quintillian.

CROSS LAKE A REMINISCENCE

Once Busy Settlement is Now Merely a Collection of Empty Buildings

GOVERNMENT WORK BUILDING

Dykes at Cross Lake Nearing
Completion and Sandy Lake
Dam Half Finished

T. B. Lauer, who has been keeper and property clerk at the government works at Cross Lake, was in the city yesterday and today. He states that the work of constructing dykes, which closed down for the season last October, will probably be resumed in the spring. It will take about three months to complete the work as planned. He states that the work on the dam at Sandy Lake is also progressing satisfactorily. One half of the dam has been completed and the rock is torn out of the other half of the old dam. If congress provides the sinews of war work will be resumed early in the spring and an attempt will be made to complete the dam the coming summer.

Mr. Lauer states that Cross Lake, for many years one of the liveliest places in Crow Wing county, is now merely a reminiscence. Since the Northland Pine company completed the logging of the territory tributary to Cross lake the village has been abandoned practically. Only a caretaker and his aged wife remain of all the busy throng of a few years ago. The hotel, store, office buildings, dwellings, roundhouse, etc., are standing empty and slowly rotting down. The railroad track, even, has been removed and the rails and rolling stock taken to Bear Island, where the company is now doing logging. This desolation and decay which always follow logging operations is one of the saddest features of the industry, and is unusually prominent in the case of Cross Lake.

Mr. Lauer, who resides on a homestead six miles east of Cross Lake, and is the treasurer of the town of Fairfield and school district No. 96, was down to draw money belonging to these organizations.

Digests What you Eat Just as
a Strong Healthy Stomach
Would do It

You haven't catarrh of the stomach, or nervousness, or gastritis, or cancer, etc. Prove this by taking Pape's Diapepsin after your very next meal. Convince yourself within five minutes that your actual disease was sour, acid stomach—food fermentation—that every bite you ate turned to stomach gas, stomach poison and acid, which makes you feel sick and miserable, producing such symptoms as pain in the pit of the stomach, difficulty in breathing after a meal, headaches, belching, heartburn, nauseous breath, water brash, biliousness, sour risings, gas on stomach and many other bad feelings.

Indigestion is a result, not a cause, of your misery. If the stomach is sour, your food becomes tainted, and that's why you have these stomach disorders.

Ask your pharmacist to show you a case of Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only 50 cents. Read what this effective stomach and digestive treatment contains, and how absolutely harmless it must be; how it does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn; absolutely removes every corrupting or tainting element, and will digest all the food you can eat.

Go to your druggist and get some Diapepsin now, then eat anything you want at your next meal, and you will not suffer from indigestion or stomach trouble. Each bite of food will taste good, and, besides, you will not need liver regulators to keep your intestines and stomach clean and fresh.

Now and forever rid yourself of the misery of indigestion and stomach trouble. Make your meals a pleasure by going to the table with a healthy appetite.

ARRESTED AFTER FOUR YEARS

Wm. Bailey Arrested at Cloquet
Charged with Murder of
Annie Kintop

NEAR LITTLE FALLS IN 1905

The Prisoner Was Held to the Grand Jury in Little Falls
this Forenoon

Wm. Bailey of Cloquet, was held to the grand jury of Morrison county today on a charge of murdering Annie Kintop near Darling, Morrison county, according to a telephonic message received by the Dispatch here this afternoon. Annie Kintop was assaulted and murdered on April 10, 1905 and her body was not found until April 16th. The crime caused great excitement, not only in Morrison county but in Crow Wing and a posse of citizens from here scoured the country east of Brainerd in search of a negro suspected of the crime, but without success.

A telegram from Cloquet to the Duluth News Tribune contains the following story of the arrest of Bailey, who was taken through this city last night by the Morrison county officer:

"William Bailey, an employee of the Cloquet Electric company, was arrested this morning by Chief of Police McSweeney on the charge of having murdered Miss Annie Kintop at Little Falls, Minn., four years ago. Sheriff Armstrong, of Morrison county, arrived this afternoon from Little Falls and took the man into custody. Bailey was sleeping in his room at the West hotel when arrested and when he was confronted with the crime he collapsed and was unable to speak. After composing himself he denied all knowledge of the crime but the evidence which led to his arrest is said to be almost conclusive.

"Bailey has been in the employ of the local electric company for a little over a year. He has been faithful in his work as far as can be learned. If he is the man wanted his real name is probably concealed by him and as he is unknown in Little Falls, little importance attaches to any alias he may have assumed. He is a very large man and as a good description of the murderer which was obtained agrees consistently with Bailey's appearance. The latter has been shadowed for the last few weeks. This was accomplished by a detective applying for work with the same company and working into Bailey's confidence. Enough was learned to warrant the man's arrest and he was taken to Little Falls this forenoon.

Fine Musical Program

Last evening, at the residence of Miss Theresa L. Schulz, 315 N. E. 4th ave., an excellent musicale was rendered by a number of Miss Schulz' students. It was the second recital given in connection with her school of music, and the fine program of piano solos and duets rendered, was a credit Miss Schulz' system of teaching and ability and a compliment to her young instrumentalists. The audience comprised the parents and friends of the performers, including Mrs. W. A. M. Johnstone and a large group of her advanced musical students, to which Miss Schulz belongs.

The program rendered last evening covered a wide range of music and was complimentary to Miss Schulz as proving her to be a fine reader of the musical temperament of each student and also preparing a varied program that was listenable to a mixed audience and richly musical. The program was arranged with the taste of an artist, opening with pastoreles with their rustic style and simple melodies, rich in symphonies portraying rural life; passing on to most exquisitely rendered slumber songs and scores delicately delineating childhood's golden hours with its "Little Boy Blue," "Gathering Golden Rod" and "First Violets," as it wandered over "Hill and Dale" amid the liquid music of "Robin and Swallow" thence to hunting scenes and the weird march of the "Gnommes' Patrol" still onward toward the deep, blue sea listening to its waves singing a lazy lullaby and again to the voice of the storm; leading to where Love's Longing and Maiden's Prayers were interpreted in Serenade; from that to the indescribable chamber music of Sonatas, and spending itself in a grand finale of the Triumphal March by Rathbun, and Verdi's talentfully interpreted, "Souvenir de Trovatori." After the program light refreshments were served and an informal conversation took place.

The students who participated in last night's program comprised about two-thirds of Miss Schulz's class and were the following:

Burton Orne, Wallace Olson, Donald Davis, Percy Carbine, Mary Nelson, Gladys Nitterauer, Bessie Bredenberg, Minnie Schulz, Maud Williams, Edna Orne, Marion Davis, Beatrice Noble, Mildred Skauge, Ruth Simmons, Mamie Brockway and Helen Strachan.

The Secret of Long Life

A French scientist has discovered one secret of long life. His method deals with the blood. But long ago millions of Americans had proved Electric Bitters prolongs life and makes it worth living. It purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood, rebuilds wasted nerve cells, imparts life and tone to the entire system. Its a godsend to weak, sick and debilitated people. "Kidney trouble had blighted my life for months," writes W. M. Sherman, of Cushing, Me., "but Electric Bitters cured me entirely." Only 50c at H. P. Dunn.

Cats Disguised as Snakes.

"Do you know why a cat hisses when in rage or danger?" said a nature student. "Well, sir, she hisses as a flying criminal puts on blue goggles and a false beard. With that hiss she tries instinctively to disguise herself as a snake."

"Did you ever notice the markings on a cat's tail? They are transverse, like a snake's markings. The primitive cat in the wild state lived in rather tall grass. When danger approached he hissed and at the same time put up his tail and waved it slowly. The oncomer heard that serpentine hiss. He saw the tail, and only the tail, which waved in an ominous, serpentine manner. He said 'snake in the grass' and withdrew."

"The cat of today, hissing horribly and waving to and fro his erected tail, follows ancestral precedent. It helps him not at all; nevertheless he always does it, thinking it the right thing. Is not man sometimes like the cat in this respect?"

A laugh costs too much if it is bought at the expense of propriety.—Quintillian.

CROSS LAKE A REMINISCENCE

GOVERNMENT WORK BUILDING

Dykes at Cross Lake Nearing
Completion and Sandy Lake
Dam Half Finished

T. B. Lauer, who has been keeper and property clerk at the government works at Cross Lake, was in the city yesterday and today. He states that the work of constructing dykes, which closed down for the season last October, will probably be resumed in the spring. It will take about three months to complete the work as planned. He states that the work on the dam at Sandy Lake is also progressing satisfactorily. One half of the dam has been completed and the rock is torn out of the other half of the old dam. If congress provides the sinews of war work will be resumed early in the spring and an attempt will be made to complete the dam the coming summer.

Mr. Lauer states that Cross Lake, for many years one of the liveliest places in Crow Wing county, is now merely a reminiscence. Since the Northland Pine company completed the logging of the territory tributary to Cross lake the village has been abandoned practically. Only a caretaker and his aged wife remain of all the busy throng of a few years ago. The hotel, store, office buildings, dwellings, roundhouse, etc., are standing empty and slowly rotting down. The railroad track, even, has been removed and the rails and rolling stock taken to Bear Island, where the company is now doing logging. This desolation and decay which always follow logging operations is one of the saddest features of the industry, and is unusually prominent in the case of Cross Lake.

Mr. Lauer, who resides on a home-stead six miles east of Cross Lake, and is the treasurer of the town of Fairfield and school district No. 96, was down to draw money belonging to these organizations.

Digests What you Eat Just as
a Strong Healthy Stomach
Would do It

You haven't catarrh of the stomach, or nervousness, or gastritis, or cancer, etc. Prove this by taking Pape's Diapiesin after your very next meal. Convince yourself within five minutes that your actual disease was sour, acid stomach—food fermentation—that every bite you ate turned to stomach gas, stomach poison and acid, which makes you feel sick and miserable, producing such symptoms as pain in the pit of the stomach, difficulty in breathing after a meal, headaches, belching, heartburn, nauseous breath, water brash, biliousness, sour risings, gas on stomach and many other bad feelings.

Indigestion is a result, not a cause, of your misery. If the stomach is sour, your food becomes tainted, and that's why you have these stomach disorders.

Ask your pharmacist to show you a case of Pape's Diapiesin, which costs only 50 cents. Read what this effective stomach and digestive treatment contains, and how absolutely harmless it must be; how it does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn; absolutely removes every corrupting or tainting element, and will digest all the food you can eat.

Go to your druggist and get some Diapiesin now, then eat anything you want at your next meal, and you will not suffer from indigestion or stomach trouble. Each bite of food will taste good, and, besides, you will not need liver regulators to keep your intestines and stomach clean and fresh.

Now and forever rid yourself of the misery of indigestion and stomach trouble. Make your meals a pleasure by going to the table with a healthy appetite.

It seemed to J. A. Stone, a civil war veteran of Kemp, Tex., that a plot existed between a desperate lung trouble and the grave to cause his death. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, which restored my health completely. I now weigh 178 pounds." For severe colds, obstinate coughs, hemorrhages, asthma, and to prevent pneumonia it's unrivaled. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by H. P. Dunn.

PASSED BY THE HOUSE

Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill Finally Disposed Of.

WARM DEBATE ON MEASURE

Numerous Material Amendments Made to the Bill Before It Gets Through. Majority Rule Opposed by the Democrats and Incipient Filibuster Results in Several Roll Calls—Many Private Pension Bills Passed.

Washington, Feb. 27.—After having dragged along for a week, the sundry civil appropriation bill, carrying in the aggregate $137,000,000, was passed by the house with numerous material amendments. The debate on the measure at times waxed warm. This was especially so when Messrs. Bartlett of Georgia and Hitchcock of Nebraska offered amendments which, had they been adopted, would have forced the attorney general to prosecute the United States Steel corporation for absorbing the Tennessee Coal and Iron company upon the ground that the merger was in violation of the anti-trust law.

A rule brought in by Mr. Dalzell of Pennsylvania making it in order for a majority to pass a bill under suspension of the rules instead of two-thirds, aroused the Democrats under the leadership of Mr. Williams of Mississippi to the point of severe criticism of the appropriations committee in not affording, as was charged, more time to study supply bills before they were taken up. This led to an incipient filibuster, it requiring several roll calls before the way was clear for other business.

Earlier in the day a resolution was adopted appointing a committee of five to report whether or not the remarks of Mr. Cook of Colorado, delivered Thursday, attacking the president, should be expunged from the record.

The ship subsidy bill was reported, the conference reports on the penal code and the diplomatic and consular appropriation bills were presented, the conference reports on the District of Columbia and Indian appropriation bills were agreed to and the naval appropriation bill again was returned to conference.

Later the conference report on the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill also was agreed to.

Following the passage of more than 300 private pension bills the house recessed.

A Long Spell of Duty.

A Scotsman had come to London on his way to India and for a few days had time to amuse himself by sight-seeing before his departure, says Oscar Ramsay in his "Reminiscences." He had been much struck with the appearance of the mounted sentinels of the horse guards, Whitehall, and bore them in remembrance during his eastern sojourn. On his return after a period of thirty years, on passing the horse guards, he looked up to one, and seeing him, as he thought, unchanged as to horse, position and accoutrements, he exclaimed, "Od, freend, ye hae had a lang spell on't sin' I left."

Mutual Surprise.

They stood beneath the mistletoe. She was justly resentful of what he had done.

"How dare you kiss me?" she exclaimed. "I never was so surprised in all my life!"

"Neither was I," he replied contritely. "I thought it was your younger sister."—Chicago Post.

Forbidden Fruit.

"Your luncheons are always so successful, Mrs. Penrhyn-Paget. Do tell me how you select your menus."

"Oh, you see, the doctor has given me a printed list of things I mustn't eat, and I choose the dishes from that."—Woman's Home Companion.

A kindness done to the good is never lost.—Plautus.

MAKES VIGOROUS PROTEST

Taft Objects to Statements Misrepresenting His Views.

New York, Feb. 27.—President Elect Taft made a vigorous protest against what he said was an absolute misrepresentation in certain New York afternoon papers as to what he had said during the day in answer to questions regarding tariff revision.

He had stated, he said, that the present business depression was undoubtedly due in a large measure to the fact that the tariff is to be revised at an extra session of congress to meet March 15; that it was of the highest importance that this work of revision should not be delayed, but executed with all diligence.

Mr. Taft also said he favored the idea of a permanent tariff commission, the plan for which should be worked out with deliberation, the duties of such a commission to make a careful study of the operation of the proposed new tariff law to the end that suggestions might be made in the future which would tend to place the whole question of the tariff on a more certain and scientific basis.

Upon this statement Mr. Taft was made to say that the present tariff schedules were responsible for the present business depression and that when they were revised their own parents would not know them, all of which was amplified at length and made positive by appearing to be a vigorous and enthusiastic statement.

Mr. Taft was particularly perturbed over what he called a misrepresentation particularly in view of the weight which is now given his words because of his official position. He had, he declared, changed his position in no way, and held the same views he had publicly announced during and since the campaign.

The Reconciliation.

The doctor was soon at the child's bedside. Remedies were administered; then the agonized pair watched the fight for life—skill and vitality on one side, fierce disease on the other. When at last the struggle ceased, the gray dawn of day was looking in at the window. Life had won. The child slept.

"She is all right now," said the doctor, shaking the man's hand, which had gripped his, and feeling his heart grow warm under the look of mute gratitude the woman turned upon him.

When he had gone the two stood side by side at the baby's crib, looking to her regular breathing. Then, with one accord, they turned and kissed each other. And in that kiss the icy barrier between them melted away.—Atlanta Constitution.

Making Good.

There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good;" and Doctor Pierce's medicines well exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity, are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards.

A good, honest, square-deal medicine of known composition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, perhaps dizziness, foul breath, nasty coated tongue, with bitter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's an honest, square-deal medicine with all its ingredients printed on bottle-wrapper—no secret, no hocus-pocus humbug, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may possibly make a little bigger profit. Insist on your right to have what you call for.

Don't buy Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription expecting it to prove a "cure-all." It is only advised for woman's special ailments. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Less advertised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtues still maintain its position in the front ranks, where it stood over two decades ago. As an invigorating tonic and strengthening nerve it is unequalled. It won't satisfy those who want "booze," for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy—one to three a dose. Much imitated but never equalled.

INTERESTING TESTIMONY

Given by Speaker Bancroft of Wisconsin Assembly.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 27.—Speaker Levi H. Bancroft of the Wisconsin assembly furnished the interesting testimony before the legislative senatorial primary investigation committee. The speaker acknowledged having received $250 of the Stephenson campaign fund for the purpose of organizing Richland county and said he added $100 of his own money to further the senator's interests. He made one statement that one of the members of the committee thought immaterial and that was that he spent $400 of his own money in one of the La Follette campaigns. An effort was made to secure the names of persons to whom Mr. Bancroft paid Stephenson money for campaigning, but the speaker refused to divulge any further information. While he supported Stephenson he refrained from "pernicious activity," he said.

Messrs. Edmonds, Puelicher and Sackett appeared together and were examined as to the details of several checks. Some of these were explained and some could not be identified. Mr. Edmonds testified that he had little experience in politics. He did not like the system of disbursements but was too busy to advise a system. He thought he was chosen manager for Stephenson because of his success in behalf of La Follette in previous campaigns. Had he been an officeholder of the state he should have hesitated at doing organization work as was performed by some state officers.

Senator Stephenson has appealed from the ruling of Lieutenant Governor Strange that no election resulted on the separate ballot by assembly and senate on Jan. 26 and has submitted his case to the United States senate.

CASE IN HANDS OF THE JURY

Trial of Councilmen and Banker at Pittsburgh Ended.

Pittsburg, Feb. 27.—At the close of a night session of the criminal court, the case charging conspiracy against Councilmen John E. Klein, William Brand and John C. Wasson and Banker W. W. Ramsey was given to the jury.

At the close of the testimony, District Attorney Blakely informed the court that he would not ask for a verdict of guilty against Ramsey, as he did not believe the state had made a case against him. The court said he was of the same opinion and would have set aside the verdict had the jury found Ramsey guilty.

Ramsey and Wasson were on the stand in their own defense. Each denied any wrongdoing. Ramsey said he was only after a legitimate deposit for his bank. Wasson admitted that an effort was made to give him money "for his campaign expenses" by Detective Wilson, but declared he refused to accept it.

ARGUMENTS ARE LONG AND BITTER

Counsel in Cooper-Sharp Trial in Wordy Warfare.

TO ADVANTAGE OF DEFENSE

Revolvers in the Case Play a Prominent Part and the Testimony Regarding Them is in Favor of the Defendants—The One Found Near Carmack's Body With Two Empty Shells in It Was Carried by Him.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 27.—The ninth day of testimony in the Cooper-Sharp trial for the slaying of former United States Senator Carmack was marked by lengthy and bitter argument between opposing counsel. At the same time an interesting law point, one lawyers say never before was raised in Tennessee, was decided by Judge Hart. The defense early in its case-in-chief, offered proof that Cooper was told by Edward Craig, whom the colonel had sent to see Senator Carmack, that Carmack was in an "ugly humor." The defense's case was based really upon this one expression, for Colonel Cooper and Robin both testified that they armed themselves because they were led to believe from this remark that Senator Carmack might assault the elder Cooper.

Now along comes the state and offers to prove by two of the defense's own witnesses, Major Vertrees and Assistant State Insurance Commissioner T. Leigh Thompson, that Senator Carmack was not only not in an ugly humor, but laughed at the idea of trouble and said he simply wanted to arm himself to relieve the anxiety of his friends.

The defense fought the admission of this testimony with more vim and bitterness than had characterized any argument since the trial began.

Two Reasons for Its Exclusion.

Learned counsel offered two reasons why it should be excluded. First, that the state could cross-examine only on such matter as had been gone over in direct examination. The defense argued that unless all the conversation of witnesses with Carmack as well as their observation of his manner and appearance had been communicated to the defendants, the testimony was inadmissible. They held that if these conversations and observations had been so communicated they would throw some light upon the mental condition of the defendant. If they were not communicated, they would show only Senator Carmack's mental condition and as the senator was dead, his mental condition would throw no light upon the subject.

On the question of Major Vertrees' testimony, Judge Hart excluded the jury and permitted the state to examine the major for the court's benefit. He admitted all that the state said he would, that Carmack laughed at the idea of trouble, said he had done nothing to provoke it and that he wanted a revolver simply to satisfy his friends. The counsel on both sides argued and the court held with the defense.

The revolvers in the case played a prominent part and the testimony was much to the advantage of the defense. The prosecution has gone upon the theory, implied if not openly expressed, that the gun with the two empty shells found near Senator Carmack's body was in reality Colonel Cooper's, and that the revolver introduced as Colonel Cooper's, which had not been discharged, was the one the dead senator carried. Major Vertrees, however, who loaned Senator Carmack the revolver, identified the one found near the body with two discharged shells as the one he had loaned the senator. Next, Police Commissioner Tom Hutchinson identified the revolver which had not been fired as the one he loaned Colonel Cooper.

JURY TENTATIVELY CHOSEN

Both Sides May Again Examine Men Selected to Try Oil Case.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—The jury in the retrial of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana was completed tentatively at the end of the session, but both the government and the defendant corporation reserved the right to re-examine the men in the jury box when court reconvenes Monday morning. Of the twelve men in the box three are retired farmers and the others are small merchants. Five are Chicago men. Eighteen men were examined in all. When the government lawyers ceased their questioning, Attorneys John S. Miller and Moritz Rosenthal took up the examination for the oil company. In an extensive examination of J. J. Comstock, a hardware dealer of La Grange, Ill., it was discovered that Mr. Comstock had made a study of the Standard Oil company. Mr. Rosenthal asked him if he could give the oil company a fair trial.

"I would try to do so," replied Mr. Comstock, "though I do believe that the Standard Oil company is a menace and that it should not be in existence."

"All we ask is a fair trial," said the lawyer.

"I would try to do my duty," said Mr. Comstock.

"Could you act as a fair and impartial juror?" asked Judge Anderson.

"I can only say that I would try," was the answer.

"Stand aside," ordered the court.

PASSED BY THE HOUSE

Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill Finally Disposed Of.

WARM DEBATE ON MEASURE

Numerous Material Amendments Made to the Bill Before It Gets Through. Majority Rule Opposed by the Democrats and Incipient Filibuster Results in Several Roll Calls—Many Private Pension Bills Passed.

Washington, Feb. 27.—After having dragged along for a week, the sundry civil appropriation bill, carrying in the aggregate $137,000,000, was passed by the house with numerous material amendments. The debate on the measure at times waxed warm. This was especially so when Messrs. Bartlett of Georgia and Hitchcock of Nebraska offered amendments which, had they been adopted, would have forced the attorney general to prosecute the United States Steel corporation for absorbing the Tennessee Coal and Iron company upon the ground that the merger was in violation of the anti-trust law.

A rule brought in by Mr. Dalzell of Pennsylvania making it in order for a majority to pass a bill under suspension of the rules instead of two-thirds, aroused the Democrats under the leadership of Mr. Williams of Mississippi to the point of severe criticism of the appropriations committee in not affording, as was charged, more time to study supply bills before they were taken up. This led to an incipient filibuster, it requiring several roll calls before the way was clear for other business.

Earlier in the day a resolution was adopted appointing a committee of five to report whether or not the remarks of Mr. Cook of Colorado, delivered Thursday, attacking the president, should be expunged from the record.

The ship subsidy bill was reported, the conference reports on the penal code and the diplomatic and consular appropriation bills were presented, the conference reports on the District of Columbia and Indian appropriation bills were agreed to and the naval appropriation bill again was returned to conference.

Later the conference report on the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill also was agreed to.

Following the passage of more than 300 private pension bills the house recessed.

A Long Spell of Duty.

A Scotsman had come to London on his way to India and for a few days had time to amuse himself by sight-seeing before his departure, says Oscar Ramsay in his "Reminiscences." He had been much struck with the appearance of the mounted sentinels of the horse guards, Whitehall, and bore them in remembrance during his eastern sojourn. On his return after a period of thirty years, on passing the horse guards, he looked up to one, and seeing him, as he thought, unchanged as to horse, position and accoutrements, he exclaimed, "Od, freend, ye hae had a lang spell on't sin' I left."

MAKES VIGOROUS PROTEST

Taft Objects to Statements Misrepresenting His Views.

New York, Feb. 27.—President Elect Taft made a vigorous protest against what he said was an absolute misrepresentation in certain New York afternoon papers as to what he had said during the day in answer to questions regarding tariff revision.

He had stated, he said, that the present business depression was undoubtedly due in a large measure to the fact that the tariff is to be revised at an extra session of congress to meet March 15; that it was of the highest importance that this work of revision should not be delayed, but executed with all diligence.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 27.—The ninth day of testimony in the Cooper-Sharp trial for the slaying of former United States Senator Carmack was marked by lengthy and bitter argument between opposing counsel. At the same time an interesting law point, one lawyers say never before was raised in Tennessee, was decided by Judge Hart. The defense early in its case-in-chief, offered proof that Cooper was told by Edward Craig, whom the colonel had sent to see Senator Carmack, that Carmack was in an "ugly humor." The defense's case was based really upon this one expression, for Colonel Cooper and Robin both testified that they armed themselves because they were led to believe from this remark that Senator Carmack might assault the elder Cooper.

Now along comes the state and offers to prove by two of the defense's own witnesses, Major Vertrees and Assistant State Insurance Commissioner T. Leigh Thompson, that Senator Carmack was not only not in an ugly humor, but laughed at the idea of trouble and said he simply wanted to arm himself to relieve the anxiety of his friends.

The defense fought the admission of this testimony with more vim and bitterness than had characterized any argument since the trial began.

Two Reasons for Its Exclusion.

Learned counsel offered two reasons why it should be excluded. First, that the state could cross-examine only on such matter as had been gone over in direct examination. The defense argued that unless all the conversation of witnesses with Carmack as well as their observation of his manner and appearance had been communicated to the defendants, the testimony was inadmissible. They held that if these conversations and observations had been so communicated they would throw some light upon the mental condition of the defendant. If they were not communicated, they would show only Senator Carmack's mental condition and as the senator was dead, his mental condition would throw no light upon the subject.

On the question of Major Vertrees' testimony, Judge Hart excluded the jury and permitted the state to examine the major for the court's benefit. He admitted all that the state said he would, said Carmack laughed at the idea of trouble, said he had done nothing to provoke it and that he wanted a revolver simply to satisfy his friends. The counsel on both sides argued and the court held with the defense.

The revolvers in the case played a prominent part and the testimony was much to the advantage of the defense. The prosecution has gone upon the theory, implied if not openly expressed, that the gun with the two empty shells found near Senator Carmack's body was in reality Colonel Cooper's, and that the revolver introduced as Colonel Cooper's, which had not been discharged, was the one the dead senator carried. Major Vertrees, however, who loaned Senator Carmack the revolver, identified the one found near the body with two discharged shells as the one he had loaned the senator. Next, Police Commissioner Tom Hutchinson identified the revolver which had not been fired as the one he loaned Colonel Cooper.

JURY TENTATIVELY CHOSEN

Both Sides May Again Examine Men Selected to Try Oil Case.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—The jury in the retrial of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana was completed tentatively at the end of the session, but both the government and the defendant corporation reserved the right to re-examine the men in the jury box when court reconvenes Monday morning. Of the twelve men in the box three are retired farmers and the others are small merchants. Five are Chicago men. Eighteen men were examined in all. When the government lawyers ceased their questioning, Attorneys John S. Miller and Moritz Rosenthal took up the examination for the oil company. In an extensive examination of J. J. Comstock, a hardware dealer of La Grange, Ill., it was discovered that Mr. Comstock had made a study of the Standard Oil company. Mr. Rosenthal asked him if he could give the oil company a fair trial.

"I would try to do so," replied Mr. Comstock, "though I do believe that the Standard Oil company is a menace and that it should not be in existence."

"All we ask is a fair trial," said the lawyer.

"I would try to do my duty," said Mr. Comstock.

"Could you act as a fair and impartial juror?" asked Judge Anderson.

"I can only say that I would try," was the answer.

"Stand aside," ordered the court.
